AS ALWAYS WHEN THE Press shifts its publication date, as happened during Thanksgiving week, we have some difficulty in adjusting to just what day of the week it actually is.

As a creature of habit, we are geared to a basic routine with the date of issue of The Press as a focal point. For example, we play golf (or what passes as golf) on Wednesday.

Now if the Campbell Press comes out on Monday (as it did) where does that leave us? Monday then is our Wednesday.

But let's face it.

It's Monday to everyone else and they act accordingly.

So we don't have a golf game.

OUT-ON-THE-LIMB IS the way the heading reads on this column.

So it is probably as good as any place to submit that we would like to see NORM PAUL run for the City Council next April.

There will be three councilmen elected next year.

We sincerely believe that Norm has the qualifications that will make an excellent city father.

Incidentally, Dr. Ed Rogers, who holds the city record for length of service as a councilman (three terms) has indicated he will not run again.

The terms of Councilman Dean Chamberlin and Bill Smeed also expire.

Norm Paul, by his record, has shown that he believes in Campbell. He has devoted a great deal of time to civic enterprises as president of the Chamber of Commerce and vice-chairman of the Planning Commission.

In our opinion, the community would be fortunate to have Paul as a councilman.

Y'know we are not really as far out on the limb as some might think in making this suggestion.

We have a hunch there are a number of you who will want to join us.

THERE ARE TIMES when one does not have to go outside our office to get first-hand reports of traumatic experiences.

Take a recent Monday morning, for example. (However, we hastily add that it was not really a typical Monday morning at the joint.)

Reports were made by three staff members of what they had experienced during the weekend. Each incident sounded more gruesome than the one preceding.

There were only three reports.

The weekend activities of the rest of us appeared too mundane in the light of the three to even bother.

Carl Winther, our ad man, described a car accident that had occurred on his street near his house.

One of the parties involved was injured - she was brought into the Winther's livingroom to await the ambulance.

That was more excitement than generally occurs at the Winther's on a weekend, Carl added.

Next at bat was Shirley Hess.

The heater had broken down at her home at almost the same time the toilet had backed up.

And it was a cold night.

But Ruthie Duske, our IBM specialist, took the honors.

ON AMATO PROPERTY

What is proposed

Called "Arroyo del Prado", a proposed site plan for a planned "town house" residential community for the 31-acre former Amato property, between Campbell Ave. and Latimer Ave., has been submitted to the Planning Commission for approval.

Dura-Style Homes Inc., headed by Mike Engdol, a firm that has built numerous subdivisions in the area for the past 20 years, is requesting that the property, now zoned for single-family dwellings, be rezoned P-D (planned development).

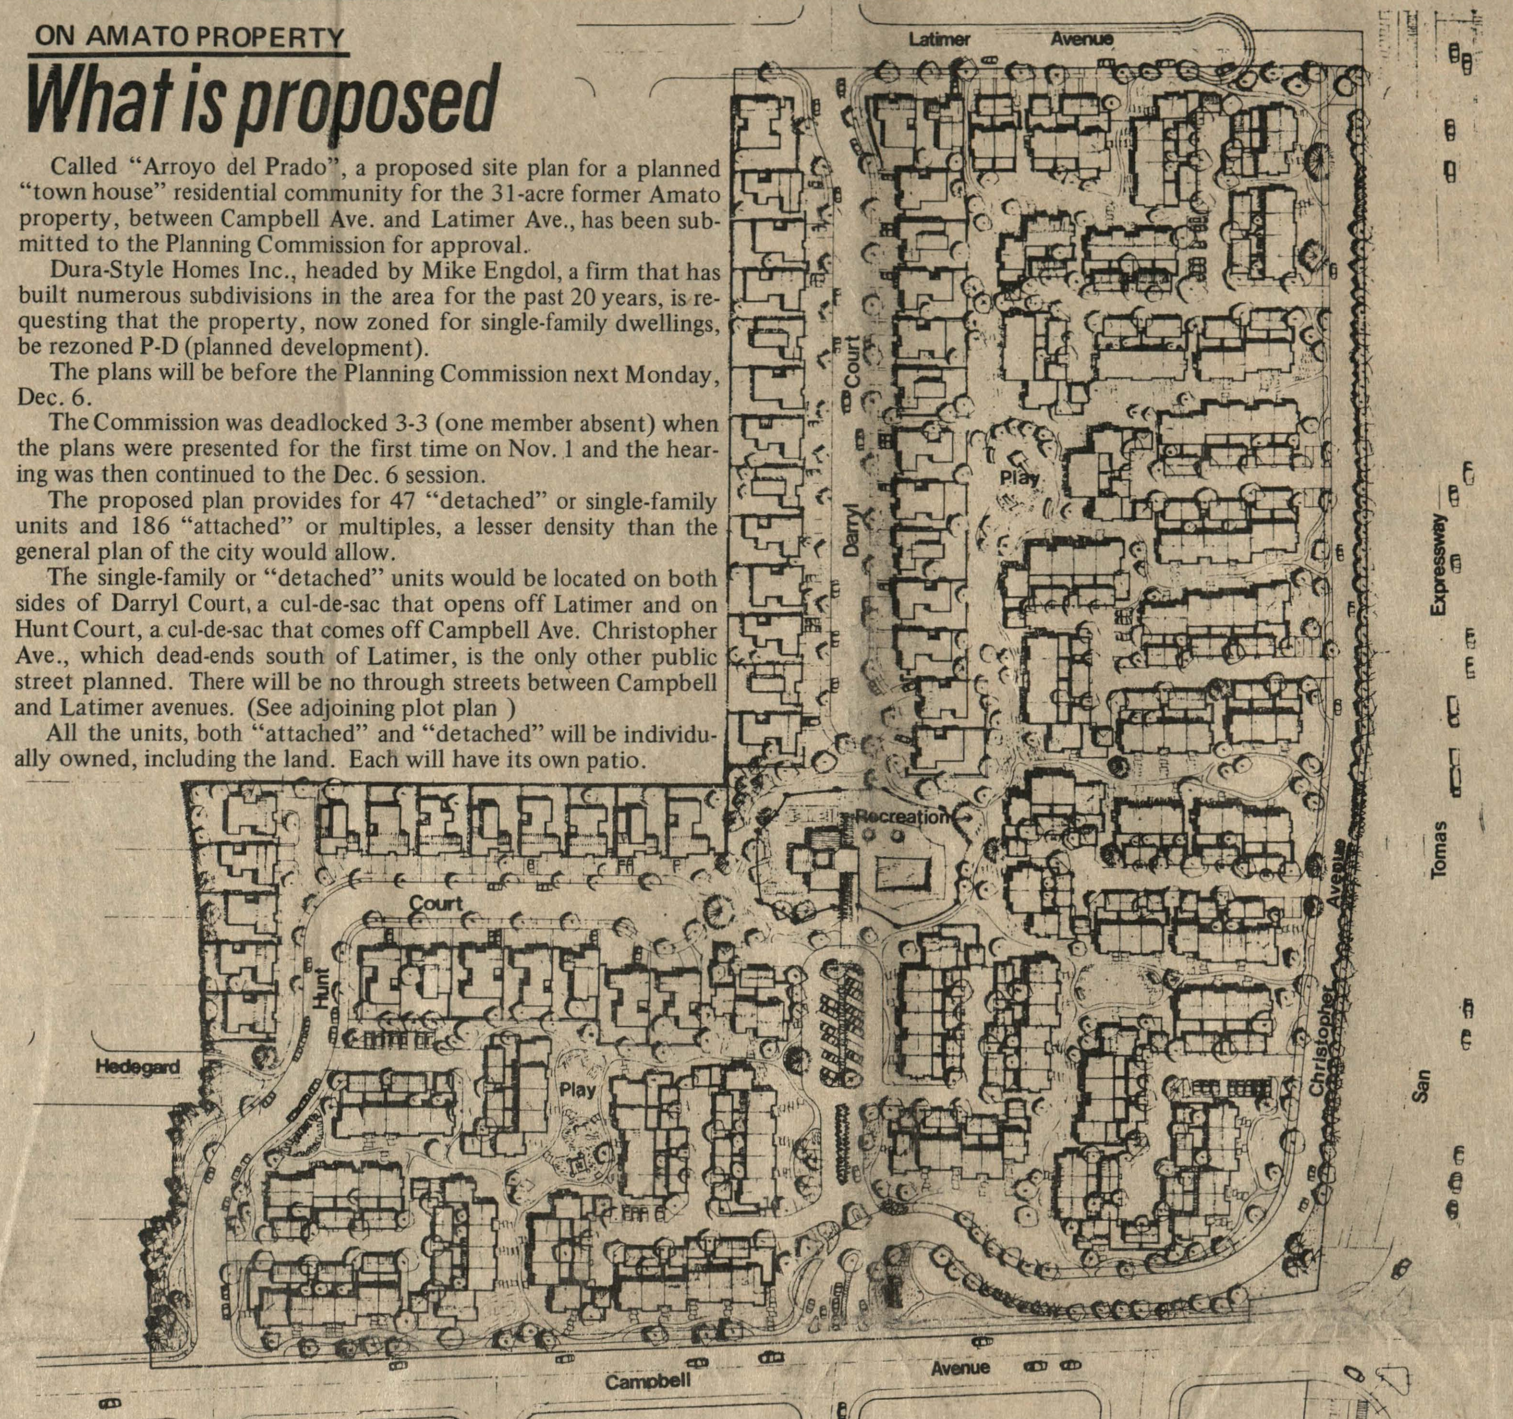
The plans will be before the Planning Commission next Monday, Dec. 6.

The Commission was deadlocked 3-3 (one member absent) when the plans were presented for the first time on Nov. 1 and the hearing was then continued to the Dec. 6 session.

The proposed plan provides for 47 "detached" or single-family units and 186 "attached" or multiples, a lesser density than the general plan of the city would allow.

The single-family or "detached" units would be located on both sides of Darryl Court, a cul-de-sac that opens off Latimer and on Hunt Court, a cul-de-sac that comes off Campbell Ave. Christopher Ave., which dead-ends south of Latimer, is the only other public street planned. There will be no through streets between Campbell and Latimer avenues. (See adjoining plot plan)

All the units, both "attached" and "detached" will be individually owned, including the land. Each will have its own patio.



Council upholds Commission on Eichler zoning denial

By a 3-2 vote the City Council on Monday, Nov. 22, upheld the denial by the Planning Commission of zone change application of J. L. Eichler Associates for seven acres on W. Latimer Ave.

Eichler had appealed the Planning Commission ruling. The request by Eichler would have changed the present P-D (planned development) zoning to multiple residential zoning.

Richard L. Eichler explained to the Council that R-3-S zoning, which they were asking, was the zoning that was on the property originally.

It had been changed to P-D when the firm had planned to build townhouses on the site. Eichler said that too many townhouses were being built and his firm now wanted to construct multiples.

Mayor Ralph Doetsch and Councilman Bill Smeed voted for the zone change (upholding the appeal) with Councilman Ed Rogers, Dean Chamberlin and Bill Podgorsek affirming the Commission's action.

All bids for the traffic signal controller for the Hamilton-Bascom intersection were rejected by the City Council.

Bill Wren, public works director, said that no manufacturer had submitted bids and thus the bids received were higher than had been anticipated. Wren said he had expected the job to cost about $13,000 but the bids were about $17,000.

Wren's request to buy directly from the manufacturer was referred to the city attorney's office for checking out. Former City Attorney Joe Bonacina who was filling in for City Attorney Bob Dempster questioned whether such a procedure would be in conflict with state law.

The Council also directed Wren to work out details with the City of Gilroy through the office of William K. Henry Jr. of that city on the novel proposal of "trading" $25,690 TOPICS money of Gilroy for Campbell's gas tax money.

Wren explained that TOPICS funds are used for improvements at intersections and that Gilroy has no such project advanced enough in the planning stage to take advantage of the state and federal funds before the time expires.

The case is different in Campbell, he points out, as this city is already processing such a project from Hacienda and Winchester which is expected to cost about $147,000.

The TOPICS program states that a maximum of 71% of a project cost will be financed by a grant with the city putting up 29%. Wren said that the money from Gilroy could be utilized to supplement the funding of the Campbell project which is short about that amount.

In turn, Gilroy would receive an approximate amount from the gas tax funds.

The Council appointed L. E. (Bill) Means, a long-time druggist in the area, as citizen representative from Campbell to the State Housing sub-committee and reappointed Rusty Hammer to a one-year term on the Youth Commission. Hammer has served on the Youth Commission since its inception.

Other appointments made to the Youth Commission included Cindy Casteel, Linda Evans, Ted Van Dyne and Julie Thiebut.

City Attorney Dempster, in a written report to the Council, indicated that the city would not be authorized to pay Police Chief John Morgan's salary beyond Jan. 18, 1972.

By resolution the Council also approved "Change Order No. 7" relating to the city hall construction contract. The action by the Council actually included the approving of 10 items on the order for a net overall reduction of $7,432.55 from the contract price.

The actual net contract price for the building came to $774,266.39. The contract price was $779,000.

Eight-story job comes back again

Back again.

One of the items on the Planning Commission agenda for next Monday will be a return engagement of Central Development Co., turned down by both the Commission and City Council in previous efforts to get a multi-story structure at Llewellyn and Hamilton.

The firm's request to erect an eight-story commercial-office-apartment complex on the site was denied.

This time Central Development is asking for an eight-story hotel and commercial-office building. There would be commercial uses on the first floor, offices on the second and the rest of the stories would be devoted for the hotel.

On the Commission's agenda also is a public hearing on the request of Keith Wiggins to allow a "recreational vehicle park" on the west side of Los Gatos Creek off 870 Camden Ave.

Prior approval has been given for a mobile home park in that area.

In another item, G. C. Morgan is asking for another extention for time for the construction of a 178-unit apartment complex at 350 Budd Ave.

West Valley Post 158 of the American Legion has submitted a request for a zone change for the legion hall's property at 1314 Dell Ave. The Legion is asking that the present zoning be changed from CM-B-80 to CM-B-40. The hall is located in a controlled manufacturing zone.

CETA favors tax increase

Campbell Elementary Teachers Association has indicated support of a district tax rate in the range of $3.25 to $3.50 per $100 assessed valuation, according to Herb Wadley, president of the teachers association.

Wadley submits that the increase is necessary because "Our district has been running on a shoestring budget in which basic programs have not been enacted, teachers have received minimal salary adjustments every other year, supplies have been reduced and the public has not been aware of these conditions due to the turmoil resulting from the demotion of the superintendent."

AT PLANNING COMMISSION

Hearing next Monday concerns development of Amato property

Highlighting the Planning Commission meeting next Monday, Dec. 6, will be the continued public hearing on the plans that have been submitted by Dura-Style Homes, Inc., for a $7.5 million development proposed for the former Amato property consisting of 31-acres between Campbell Ave. and Latimer, just west of the San Tomas Expressway.

The Planning Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. and the hearing comes up early on the agenda. A full house is expected.

Dura-Style Homes, headed by Mike Engdol, a long-time builder in the area, who constructed subdivisions on Coventry and Branbury in the 1950's, is asking that the Amato property now zoned for single-family dwellings, be rezoned P-D (planned development).

When the plans were presented for the first time on Nov. 1, the Planning Commission deadlocked 3-3 on a motion for denial. (Commissioner Ed Pack was absent.) The hearing was then continued by a unanimous vote to Dec. 6 when a full Commission is expected to be present.

PLANS MODIFIED

Since the plans were originally submitted Dura-Style has modified them by increasing the number of single-family units. The single-family dwellings are planned now for both sides of Darryl Court and Hunt Court.

The specific area land use plan for the Amato property, adopted as part of the general plan in 1968, shows high density for the area along the expressway between Campbell and Latimer backed up by medium density with the balance of the property R-1 (single-family).

Dura-Style points out that, if the general plan was followed specifically, the range of units allowed would be between 313 and 469. Their proposal calls for only a total of 233 units.

Spokesmen for the firm thus emphasize that the density is far less in their proposal than the general plan allows.

DETACHED

The proposal calls for 47 "detached" or single-family units and 186 "attached" or multiple units on the 31-acre parcel.

The plan follows the "town house" concept with each unit individually owned. Ownership includes the land and also undivided ownership in the open area. Each unit of the complexes has its own patio.

The development also includes a 3000-sq. ft. clubhouse, sauna bath, spa and swimming pools and two additional play areas.

Engdol reports that the "detached" units with three or four bedrooms will have a price range of $34,000–$38,000. The "attached" units are expected to sell for $28,000–$35,000.

At the Nov. 1 Planning Commission meeting, Don Hebard, Bob Stewart and Norm Paul voted for denial. Chairman Dale Scott, Commissioner Carl Larson and Myron Alexander voted in favor of the proposal.

With the change now made by Dura-Style, only a small portion of the area on the west (between Hunt Court and Christopher on Campbell Ave.) does not follow the general plan.

RESIDENTS OBJECT

At the first hearing, objections to the proposal were voiced by residents from the Victor, Coventry, Branbury, Marianna and Sondra Way sector.

Many of the residents indicated that they wanted only single-family dwellings on the entire parcel. Some suggested that it should be reserved for park purposes only.

The developers maintain that it will be an outstanding addition to the community; that there will be no through

TAKING A STAND---For years the fruit and vegetable stand on Campbell Ave. operated by the Amato family where fresh produce from their adjoining acreage was sold attracted customers from all over town. The property has now been sold and plans for a planned town-house residential community on the 31-acre parcel have been submitted by Dura-Style Homes to the Planning Commission. The continued hearing on the plans takes place next Monday, Dec. 6.

Moreland also takes look at tax

While residents in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District are marking time until Dec. 9, awaiting the board's decision on the amount to be asked for in the tax election Feb. 29, Moreland School District leaders this week began searching for a similar answer.

Scheduled for the study session at last night's board meeting in Moreland was a review of the financial needs of the district. The major purpose of the session was to receive comments from the community regarding a tax election tentatively to be scheduled during the 1971-72 school year.

DISTRICT OFFICE---Allstate Insurance Company will open its new 12,000 square foot district service office on Hamilton Ave. (across from Breuner's) this Thursday, Dec. 2. The sales and claims office will serve customers from Menlo Park on the north to King City and Monterey on the south. Civil officials will take part in the opening ceremonies.

Editorial

Legislative farce

Nothing has probably united all the political forces in Santa Clara County as much as has the proposed redistricting plan of the state legislature which would divide the county among six senators.

Republican and Democratic leaders, city councilmen and supervisors and just plain interested citizens have blown a collective fuse over the proposal.

By the time this editorial is published, the reapportionment bill for the state senate and the even more controversial assembly redistricting plan will probably have come to a vote in Sacramento.

Perhaps a number of changes will have been made in the bills, as a token appeasement for the united opposition in Santa Clara County, but we feel convinced that the basic bills will not be changed enough to satisfy the people of this county.

We sincerely hope, if that is the case, that Gov. Reagan will veto the bills unless drastic modifications are made.

State Senator Mervyn Dymally, of Los Angeles, chairman of the senate committee responsible for the atrocious plan, learned last week in a press conference in San Jose, that the opposition to the proposal has all facets of the political arena in this county up-in-arms.

He said that he was impressed by the concern and indicated that there could be changes before the legislators vote on it.

The bill that has been proposed has been gerrymandered to a ridiculous degree on the false premise of the so-called "one man, one vote" principle.

The legislators' avowed attempt was to make secure every incumbent's district. Proponents point, in defense of the proposal that northern California has the territory and Santa Clara County has the people, so that's the way it went.

Basically the bone of contention is that Santa Clara County will be divided among six state senators. The argument that this would give the county more "clout" in the legislature is comical to the extreme.

The result would be that if the incumbent senators are reelected, parts of Santa Clara County will be represented by men from San Mateo, Watsonville, Railroad Flat in Calaveras County and Exeter in Tulare County south of Fresno.

It would mean that besides Senators Al Alquist and Clark Bradley, who represent the county now, there would be four prospective newcomers to the Santa Clara delegation. They are Senators Stephen P. Teale (D-Railroad Flat); Howard Way (R-Exeter); Arlene Gregorio (D-San Mateo); and Donald L. Grunsky (R-Watsonville).

Way, from Exeter, would have a district that would run southward to the San Bernardino-Riverside county line and would take in Gilroy, Almaden, and a large part of southern Santa Clara County.

Teale, from Railroad Flat in Calaveras County, would get Morgan Hill, San Martin, Coyote, part of San Jose below Blossom Hill Road. Teale's district reaches to the northwest corner of the state.

It is difficult to imagine anything quite so ludicrous when it has become so important today for the legislature to reflect the will of the people and their needs.

It is our opinion that the state senators who would represent those districts in no way could possibly understand their district's problems simply because there would be nothing in common between the urbanized Santa Clara County and the rest of the district.

The Campbell Press has emphasized for many years that it is a provincial medium primarily interested in this immediate community and its own problems.

There are times, of course, when this provincialism extends beyond the city limits because of the effect some statewide issue will have on our lives.

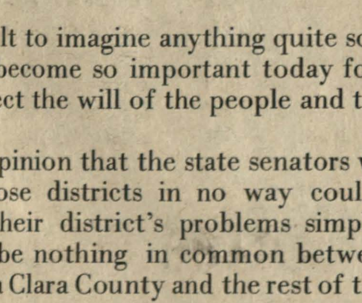
We consider this atrocious redistricting as a case in point.

The local schools and the city administration, as well as the county and the many special districts, are tied in directly with state legislation. The common complaint of the local officials is that in many instances the state has "mandated" many of their functions and in many instances without compensation.

So it has become increasingly important that the powers located in Sacramento must be cognizant of the situations that exist on the county and city level.

We ask then, how can a person from Railroad Flat or from Exeter do a proper job for his constituents who live in Santa Clara County?

In our opinion it is a complete legislative farce.



There's more to do...

IT IS NOT OUR INTENTION to sound stuffy but we think there can be an improvement made in the manner in which the Campbell Union (elementary) School District board conducts meetings.

And it is not directly the fault of the board president or board members.

We refer to the manner in which most members of the audience address the board.

It bothers the heck out of us.

We think common courtesy would call for a person to rise from his seat when he has something to say to the board.

But it seems to be common practice at trustee meetings for the audience participants (and there always are a number) to challenge or to report from a sitting position.

Obviously the representatives of the teacher groups are the worst offenders in this because they seem to be the most articulate at the sessions.

We suppose there is something to be said about the informality and casualness that pervades the meetings.

But as an old pro at covering meetings of one kind or another for more years than we care to enumerate, we have trouble getting accustomed to this rather unique style.

IN ALMOST EVERY other public meeting, a person who wishes to speak rises, then is recognized and gives his name.

We suppose identification of the speakers at a board meeting would be somewhat superfluous and repetitious in a number of cases.

Herb and Gordon, for example, would merely have to introduce themselves their first time up.

Before someone jumps down our throat for "picking on" the two pedagocial leaders, let the record show that we are not, in this column at this time, finding fault with what or how much they have to say.

We just think their "position" can be improved when they are saying whatever they have to say.

Whoa, now! We ARE being stuffy -

Few, if any, of the other audience participants stand up either but the teachers, you might say, are "leaders".

But selfishly there is another point to consider.

It makes it a lot easier for us poor old drones who are trying to report a meeting, to see the person making his pitch.

Who knows, maybe once in a while it will be worth quoting.

-0-

SOME OF YOU PROBABLY recall the letter that appeared in last week's issue written by a girl who lives in Saratoga but is now attending Davis.

The girl, Katherine Buckles, actually had written the letter to the Planning Commission. She cited the need of bike paths along some of the more busy streets leading to the Campbell campus of West Valley College.

She pointed out that more and more people today are discovering bicycle riding.

Bill Paul, of Wheel Away in Campbell, can vouch for that.

He is now in the process of more than doubling the size of his almost new building on Hamilton and Harrison.

But that really wasn't our point.

We are heartily in accord with the suggestion made by the young woman that there is a definite need for bike paths and marked bike routes.

We know there are many more of us who would take up bicycling as a steady diet, if we felt a little safer in competing with the four-wheeled vehicles on the streets.

The letter-writer even suggests that it would be easier for Campbell businessmen to pedal to lunch than fight the traffic.

Now, that does have a nice ring to it.

-0-

OF COURSE, WITH THE increase of bikes, unfortunately, there has been a tremendous increase in bike thefts.

It has become "big business", if that is the proper term to use about any criminal activity.

And the bike thieves don't hesitate to move into "protected" areas.

A case in point, for example, was a recent theft of three bikes from the city's corporation yard where the police were temporarily holding them - on a special case.

The heist was made at night. The thieves climbed the fence to get the bicycles.

The city's insurance carrier is now involved.

What does college plan for campus?

At the first in a series of "mobile" public hearings scheduled by the Planning Commission on whether the general plan of the city is working satisfactorily, the question of what lies ahead for the "temporary" campus of West Valley College was again raised.

The hearing was held last week in the council chambers of the City Hall with the "downtown sector" of the city as the focal point.

Many of those in attendance indicated that it was of prime importance for future planning to know what the college has in mind for the Campbell campus.

Art Kee, planning director, was asked to contact college authorities to learn the "latest" in the thinking, a question that has been asked periodically over the past eight years.

Considerable discussion also ensued at the hearing over the loop system for the downtown area that was approved after numerous public hearings and discussions had taken place.

The new street that is now under construction on the south side of the city hall between Central and First is the first part of the north loop for which a plan line was established several years ago.

The next public hearing on the general plan has been tentatively scheduled for Dec. 15 at the Campbell Elementary School when the Rincon Park area will be the spotlight.

USDA CHOICE

In our own ultra-modern, multi-million dollar meat warehouse, in vast air-conditioned aging rooms, Safeway beef is scientifically aged in SEALED PLASTIC BAGS the exact time required to assure full tenderness and flavor. Aging beef by this method is not new at Safeway. We have been doing it in our own facility under the watchful eyes of our meat experts . . . and, we have been doing it with the U.S.D.A. Choice Grade beef. The grade that consistently delivers the most tender, most juicy, and most flavorful cuts.

WV student wins prize for journalism

A front page story on the first student expelled from West Valley College won a first place award for Noreen Gilpatrick, former Norseman reporter, in the contest which culminated the recent day-long Conference of the Northern California Journalism Association.

Noreen Gilpatrick, who attends a nearby state college, covered the suspension, proposed expulsion and expulsion of Steve Stevens, a fellow journalism student, in three separate articles last spring. Stevens, who is now on the newspaper staff of San Jose City College, attended the conference.

Mike McLaughlin, cartoonist for the Norseman, garnered a second place award for West Valley's newspaper in the editorial cartooning category.

McLaughlin, who says his cartooning style is influenced by Ron Cobb and Walter Kelly, was "very, very surprised" when told that he won second place.

Held on a recent Saturday at Chabot College in Hayward, the annual conference gave student editors from over 12 community college newspapers an opportunity to interact with professionals in many different areas of journalism including radio, TV photography, politics, sports writing and advertising.

Dan Fortune, Sue Fagalde, Barbara Boer, Stan Mead, Raphael Reck, Martin Jacobs; Norseman staff, and J. B. "Woody" Woodson, journalism professor, were West Valley's delegation to the conference.

Members of the Norseman staff are looking forward to a three day Conference of the Northern California Journalism Association in Santa Cruz, this spring.

Any group or individual planning to help needy families during the Christmas season is urged to contact the volunteer Christmas Exchange at 2175 The Alameda, San Jose.

YOUR CARRIER WILL BE CALLING ON YOU during the next 10 days for his regular monthly collection. Please have your change (35¢) ready so that he may meet his obligation. THANK YOU.

HIGH AWARD--Mrs. Connie Morgan, accepting in behalf of her husband, John D. Morgan, Campbell's stricken Chief of Police, the Southwest YMCA's most coveted award "Service to Youth" plaque, from Dr. Wallace W. Hall (right), chairman of the Y's board of managers as Acting Chief of Police Donald Burr looks on.

Stricken Campbell chief receives highest 'Y' award

John D. Morgan, Campbell's chief of police for 11 years, was awarded the Southwest YMCA's highest honor recently at the branch's third annual recognition dinner held at Y headquarters in Los Gatos.

More than 100 community leaders in varied activities of the Y attended the event hosted by the branch board of managers.

John Morgan was active in Santa Clara Valley YMCA activities and was especially instrumental in the formation of a Y to serve the youth in the southwest area of the valley. He worked tirelessly to make the project become a reality. His leadership in the capital campaign to raise funds for the new headquarters facility, dedicated last year, was "far beyond the call of duty."

He served as chairman of the Southwest Y's board of managers until this spring when he was hospitalized with a massive cerebral hemorrhage.

Morgan has been working for and with youth most of his adult life, - through special programs he developed in cooperation with the Campbell Police department, with the YMCA and other youth groups.

The engraved plaque, bearing in relief, the head of a boy, and reading in part "For Service to Youth - Vision - Leadership - Love," was presented to Mrs. Morgan, in his behalf, by Dr. Wallace W. Hall, chairman of the branch board of managers.

Seventy-seven other adult leaders were given certificates for leadership to youth groups, the Southwest Y's four Y Indian Guide Nations, Gra-Y Council, College Y Clubs, Drug Abuse program, membership campaign, camp and caravan leaders and the Y's Mens Club.

Will Kibby, general director of the Metropolitan YMCA of San Jose and the Santa Clara Valley presented the awards with the assistance of Jim Hovis, chairman of the Southwest YMCA's program committee.

GARDEN CLUB

Dig 'N' Dream Garden Club holds its regular meeting Wednesday, Dec. 1, at 11:30 a.m. in the Ming Quong Village House, 320 Village Ln., Los Gatos.

A Christmas luncheon and an exchange of gifts will follow a short business meeting.

GRADUATION

The Campbell Fire Department is graduating the students of their seventh Baby Sitters Seminar on Dec. 14 at 7 p.m.

The graduation will be held in the multi-purpose room of the Campbell Elementary School, 295 Cherry Lane.

PARKER BAZAAR

Artists, craft buffs, and people dealing in home sales products are invited to participate in an Arts and Crafts Christmas Bazaar on Saturday, Dec. 4 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Parker Elementary School, 4455 Union Ave., Cambrian Park.

The bazaar features booths of bargain merchandise, baked goodies, food and drink.

The Parker Home and School Club, which sponsors the bazaar, asks each seller to donate ten percent of their profits to the sixth grade Redwood Glen Science camp fund. The space rental fee is a two dollar deposit.

For information on space rentals phone 377-1540.

Substitute moms create atmosphere for tykes

More and more local housewives are doubling as working women and mothers - within their own homes. By operating a licensed day care home, they look after their youngsters and a maximum of ten other children.

Consider the comments of these "substitute mothers" - "I enjoy the work", says Lorraine Williamson, who takes care of five to eight children from two months to ten years old, on a fluctuating schedule.

Mrs. Williamson says her home with its enclosed patio, sand box, and spacious garage prove "ideal for child care."

"I can make money and still be at home for my own kids" says Mrs. Joseph Acres, 4690 Laige Dr., who is presently licensed for three children. Licensed for day care since 1967, Mrs. Acres says she "has no problem" and enjoys the children. The first child comes at 6:45 and the last one leaves around 5:30 p.m.

"We paint and go to the Campbell Park, sometimes" explains Elaine Miller, but, says she makes no attempt to teach the children per se. She cares for six kids from six to ten years old. Her working days start a little later with the first child arriving around 11:30.

A California Day Care License, required by state law for the care of even one child, may be obtained from the Santa Clara County Department of Social Services, free of charge.

A day care license is easy to acquire but the application period is often lengthy, anywhere from two to six months.

Once a woman is licensed, the Social Service keeps her name on file and will recommend her to those seeking day care for their children.

The Department recently indicated a need for more day care homes for children from infancy to age three, kids who need part-time care, and handicapped youngsters.

Recent changes in Federal and State regulations limit the number of children in a Day Care Home to five children from infancy to age six, six children ages three to sixteen, and ten children ages three to sixteen, if there is additional help over 18 years of age. The maximum in each category includes a mother's own children.

The basic requirements for a day care license include:

- An interview with a social worker in the home.
- Health and safety check of the home. There must be suitable space for napping and playing.
- Chest x-ray and fingerprints
- Agreement not to discriminate or use bodily punishment, like withholding a meal to punish bad behavior.
- Agreement to provide nutritious meals.

There is no need to purchase special equipment, or attempt to teach the children since the emphasis is on a homelike atmosphere, and a woman who is capable and trustworthy.

A career woman seeking competent day care for her children can size up a variety of possibilities by phoning the family day care Referral Service at the Department of Social Services at 299-3868.

Anyone interested in more information about licensing should call 299-2875 for an appointment to attend the Department's frequent informational meetings. For written queries, the address is: Santa Clara Department of Social Services, Day Care Licensing Unit, 55 W. Younger Ave., San Jose, Ca. 95114.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS

by Eric Fontaine

Buena Suerte 4-H Club rabbit project members attended a rabbit show in Tulare, Calif. The show was sponsored by Central Valley Rabbit and Cavey Breeders.

Member Pam Weiss received a third place on her Champayne Doe; her brother Gregg's Champayne Buck placed fourth. This was the Weiss childrens' first show.

Liz Whitty's Champayne D'Argent Doe won Best of Breed. This was Liz's doe's second Best of Breed award, and if she receives another best of breed award, this doe will become a grand champion which is quite an accomplishment. Good luck, Liz. Liz also won first in meat pen and second in Best of Show in youth division.

This has been a busy month for 4-H rabbit lovers.

There will be a 4-H rabbit field day on Dec. 11 at Santa Clara County fairgrounds at 9. Tom Snashall is committee-chairman of this county event. Also Judge John Phillips will give a presentation on the raising and care of rabbits.

by Bret Bauer

On Nov. 5, Campbell 4–H had their second meeting of the year, at Coventry School.

We had a potluck before the meeting.

During the meeting we handed out the stars, the 4-H'ers who received Bronze Stars were Clarrisa Bauer, Connie Bauer, Cindy Peterson, Carolyn Serivano, Mark Smith, and Caprice Tantillo.

The ones who received Silver Stars were Lynn Smith and Roxanne Smith.

The Gold Star winners were Susanne Mariani and Nora Smith.

There were 13 children who received 100% pins for perfect attendance.

Campbell 4-H donated a 23" trophy for Best in Show, and it will be for the rabbit show put on by 4-H, Jan. 29, 1972.

We gave 54 dozen cookies to the Blind Center for our community service project.

We earned $154.74 at our flea market booth last month.

We had two movies, the names were "Waters of the Yosemite," and "The Great Toy Robbery."

By Clare Carlson

El Sereno 4-H Club held its annual potluck dinner and achievement night on November 10 at Foothill Elementary School. The potluck, a taco feed, began at 6:30 in the cafetorium.

At 7:35 the business part of the meeting was called to order. Officers' and project reports were given, and a sheet was passed around for those interested in going on a wildlife and conservation field trip in December.

After the business meeting, presentation of awards was held. Members advancing in rank were: Ken and Teri Burrow, Susan Snouse, Gail Greene, Lorraine Carlson, Dorothy Keefer, Coral Ross and Anna Roberts for Bronze Star; Janet and Beth Snouse, Anthony and Bernadette Montalbano, Lewis and Richard Zurlo and Clare Carlson for Silver Star.

Members receiving certificates for Jr. Leadership were: Beth Snouse, Kris Mason, Lewis and Richard Zurlo, Clare Carlson and Holly Herman and Glenn Greene. Kris Mason also received a nomination for the County I-Dare-You award. El Sereno's new parliamentarian for the year is Richard Zurlo.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

Twenty-two distaff members of the Northern California Darts Assn. converged on the Halfway Club in San Leandro to compete for the title of Ladies Champion.

As was the case in the Spring championships the gals were all from either East Bay with no representation from the city (San Francisco). The pub with the most players was the Loft in Oakland with eight gals competing. Next was Concord's Casa Adobe and Los Gatos' Lancashire Lad with three each.

With 22 players, ten of the gals drew byes in the first round. Those losing out in the first round were: Sylvia Lanin (Halfway Club II), Jo Aydelotte (Gaslighter II, Campbell), Jackie Patton (Primrose Lanes I, Burlingame), Veronica Lindstedt (Loft II), Darla Christiansen (Loft IV), and last year's runner-up Jane Macredes (Lancashire Lad IV).

Getting a bye in the first round didn't help; Pat Jansson (Primrose Lane II, Burlingame), Karen White (Gay 90's I, Concord), Carolyn Wilson (Gay 90's I) and Sharon Vadnais (Loft IV).

Others knocked out in the second round were: Maggie Cain (Blind Lemon, Berkeley), Madge Wernli (Harold's of Redwood), Dona Condon (Lancashire Lad IV) and Penny Smith (Loft II).

SEMI-FINALISTS

The winners of the third round became the four semi-finalists. Karen Tyler defeated Lancashire Lad's Darla Nelson. Pat Orechwa rolled over Doris Carraher of the Casa Adobe's "Senoritas." Cindy Lippincott of Loft IV lost to Kitty Exley.

"Senorita" Jan Price lost to Vicky Davis. Three of the four semi-finalists were from the loft. In the first of the semi-final matches Karen Tyler took the first game but lost the next two to Pat Orechwa.

Vicky Davis won her first game against "Senorita" Kitty Exley with Kitty bouncing back to take the second game. Vicky came on strong and took the third game.

Both Pat and Vicky play for the Loft I team. The Gals split the first two games and took the third and the title when Vicky had that nemesis of dart players, double trouble.

MIXED DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIP

Sunday will be the Mixed Doubles Championship of the NCDA. Only one member of the male-female pair has to be a card carrying member of the NCDA. The field of battle will be Melody Hall, 15890 Hesperian Blvd., San Lorenzo. It isn't as easy to find as it sounds. Melody Hall is in the rear of the San Lorenzo Music Center which in turn is in the rear of a shopping center at that address. You better start early as it could become a snipe hunt finding that place.

The awards presentation for the Spring games will take place at this tournament.

Letters to the Editor

PUBLICITY COMPLAINT

Dear Campbell Press:

I am a very disgruntled Del Mar High School sophomore. Tonight I opened up my Campbell Press (which my family has subscribed to for five years) and what did I see staring me in the face? The Campbell football team, band and spirit commission!!!

Now I have nothing against Campbell High personally, a lot of my best friends go there. BUT don't you think this is getting kind of ridiculous? You must realize that a lot of people going to other schools in this district live in Campbell too; and since there isn't a Del Mar Press we look to you, the Campbell Press, to show equality for all schools.

I would like to see what kids from other schools feel about this.

Thanks,
Coleen Rooney

P.S. DEL MAR homecoming game is also on Thanksgiving Day and we play CAMDEN.

Dear Colleen:

Scarcely a week goes by that someone doesn't call us and ask why "such and such" wasn't in the paper.

We're glad to hear from you, because that's the only way we know what our readers want.

Did you know that there is a "Correspondent" from Del Mar who brings us news about your school activities? We have faithfully printed everything we've received about your school–but, someone has to contact us and arrange to get news and pictures to us.

Incidentally, the Thanksgiving game between Campbell and Los Gatos has been publicized in the Campbell Press for all of its 38 years–kind of a tradition.

Your school spirit is commendable and we hope you will take it upon yourself to contact your school reporter and offer your help in future press releases.

The Campbell Bucs and the Los Gatos Wildcats clashed the 38th time, reviving the oldest rivalry in the West Valley league. The traditional Thanksgiving Day game, which was played on the Wildcats field, ended in a disappointing stalemate for both teams, with a score of 0-0. The defensive teams battled throughout the game, with Campbell making four interceptions and one fumble recovery. Quarterback Steve Garrido intercepted two of Los Gatos' passes, while Steve Davis got one and Ron Yount, one interception. Ron Yount also led the Bucs with 19 tackles. Offensively, Steve Davis had 79 yards on 19 carries, while Kelly Davis ran 61 yards on 12 carries.

During all four quarters neither team got closer than the 10 yard line. When the final gun sounded, the scoreboard had remained 0-0.

To start the day, the spirit girls had a breakfast in the cafeteria, with all Campbell fans invited. There was a car rally following the breakfast, with prizes awarded to the people who have the best-decorated car.

KIWANIS

Cliff Ellyn, a teacher from Rolling Hills Jr. High, presented a slide show of a student conservation project at a recent meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

Ellyn's students made a living replica of the state of California on some acreage at the back of the school.

Live trees help prevent fire

The Campbell Jaycees' live Christmas Tree Sale is endorsed by the Campbell Fire Department as a method for preventing holiday fires and beautifying the city.

A special selection of live Christmas trees are available at the Cambrian and Cupertino nurseries at reduced cost for those who redeem "Green Christmas" coupons distributed by the Jaycees.

After using the trees for holiday decorations, many residents will donate them to the city to plant in Rincon Park to beautify the city and help the ecology year-round.

For more information about the project phone 378-5285 or 287-2442.

Saratoga wins title while Campbell—Los Gatos deadlock

Saratoga High wrapped up the championship of the West Valley Athletic League on Thanksgiving by slaughtering Blackford 72-26 while Los Gatos and Campbell High were battling to a 0-0 deadlock in the 38th renewall of their rivalry.

In the other Turkey Day traditionals, Leigh defeated Westmont 22-8 and Camden tumbled Del Mar 13-6 and Prospect closed out its most successful season with a 48-22 victory over Branham.

TRADITIONALS

In the 38 years that Campbell and Los Gatos have been tangling on the gridiron, Los Gatos has come out on top 21 times and Campbell 14 with only three ties. There was a 0-0 deadlock in 1943 and a 14-14 tie in 1969.

The next oldest rivalry in the league is between Del Mar and Camden. The two schools have met 13 times with Camden winning 10 and Del Mar 3. Saratoga and Blackford have battled 11 times with Saratoga on top seven times and Blackford three with one tie.

Leigh and Westmont have done battle eight times with Leigh winning six and Westmont twice.

Prospect and Branham have been going at it only for four years and each team has won twice.

BUCS vs 'CATS

The Campbell-Los Gatos fray played at Los Gatos was a ding-dong hard-hitting affair with neither team penetrating closer than 11-yards from pay-dirt.

The Wildcats attempted to get on the scoreboard via a field-goal attempt from the 33-yard line in the second period, but the ball fell short and a touchdown pass a few minutes later by Los Gatos was called back on an illegal lineman penalty.

Steve Davis, who all year had starred for the Bucs both defensively and offensively as a running back, gained 72 yards on 19 carries. Davis went into the contest with 102 points as the second leading scorer in the Central Coast area.

Ron Young, linebacker, and Mike Cargill, defensive end, were outstanding on the defense for Campbell. Yount was credited with 19 tackles.

Los Gatos outgained the Bucs 222-184 and chalked up 13 first downs to Campbell's 10.

CAMDEN-DEL MAR

Camden turned back Del Mar 13-6 on the Del Mar field in an unexciting contest.

Del Mar scored first with a one-yard plunge by Tim Toews after a pass interception by Rick Mahaffey. The PAT was missed.

Camden, however, came right back and marched 60 yards on 14 plays to tie the score on a one-yard thrust by Dan Durbin and the PAT put the Cougars ahead.

Then with less than a minutes to go, following a fumble on the 20, Tino Rodriguez went over from the one-yard line.

Jim Tardieu of Del Mar and Dan Durbin of the Cougars were defensive standouts in the contest.

WESTMONT LOSES

Westmont lost to Leigh 22-8 on Thanksgiving which was a closer battle than had been the case in the two previous Turkey Day clashes when Leigh won by 53-0 and 54-6 scores.

Leigh, behind Rick Miramontes and Jeff Scott, built up a 14-0 half-time lead but Jeff Scott scored on a 73-yard pass play in the fourth quarter for Westmont to make it 14-8, but Miramontes scored later on a two-yard buck to lengthen the lead.

PROSPECT ON TOP

Prospect Panthers ended their best season in the history of the school with a 7-2 record in league play by defeating Branham 48-22 on Thanksgiving.

Prospect was runner-up to the high-flying Saratoga Falcons.

The first score came when Doug Wacker, Prospect tackle, fell on a Branham fumble and five plays later the goal line was crossed by Rob Lyon from seven yards out. Then just a few minutes later, Neil Adams intercepted a Branham pass and Rick Mallman, Prospect quarterback scored by himself from 11-yards out when he found all his receivers covered.

Branham scored after Steve Dobrenz had recovered a Prospect fumble on the 26 and Roger Cantrell scooted for 14 yards.

Prospect scored again after an on-side kick when Mallman hit Chris Wallis on fourth down pass play and Rob Lyon later went across from the six-yard line.

The other scores for Prospect were made via the air with Mallman hitting Lyon for 20, Wallis for 25 and Adams for 22. Branham scored twice by air and once on a safety when Rick White tackled Mallman in the end zone.

SARATOGA WINS

Saratoga won the league championship on Thanksgiving Day by making mincemeat out of Blackford 72-26.

Although Saratoga's two outstanding backs, Cliff Johnson and Dave Slade, were taken out when the score was 44-26, the Saratoga reserves went on to make a debacle out of the contest.

Santa comes early to Billy Jones Railroad

Maybe it wasn't exactly Jolly Ole Saint Nick who drove up to the Billy Jones Wildcat Railroad roundhouse recently, but it may have been a close relative, according to jubilant volunteer workers at the railroad.

Varian Associates, a peninsula based electronics firm, was making a gift of a truck load of machine tools and W. L. Larson of San Carlos and his son, Bill, were the "Santas" who had volunteered to do the moving.

The mini railroad workers were quick to assume the role of elves and unload the engine lathe, milling machine, pedestal grinder and drill press.

The gifts were the result of efforts by Carl Herrera, Varian Associates machinist and volunteer railroad engineer and two Varian employees, Alex de Knoop, manager of engineering shops and Doug Hayward, personnel manager, were on hand to make sure the equipment arrived safely.

A publicly owned non-profit corporation, the Billy Jones Railroad was founded in 1968 and operates seasonally for the pleasure of children of all ages. The station, shops and corporate headquarters are located in Oak Meadow Park, Los Gatos.

According to W. E. "Bill" Mason, president of the group, the gift from Varian will help provide means for volunteers to convert some of the corporations future plans into realities.

THE PIANO

In 1709, Christofori of Florence produced the piano by combining the harpsichord and the clavichord and by 1750 it had superseded both.

Montalvo hosts three day Christmas festivities

A three day Christmas party will be hosted in a Saratoga mansion while most families in the area are still cleaning up their Thanksgiving turkey.

Villa Montalvo, the 800 acre property of the late senator James D. Phelan, opens young and old hearts alike to "The Wonder of Christmas" at its 12th annual "Yuletide at Montalvo" on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 3, 4 and 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Over 5,000 visitors to the legendary Villa will catch the glow of Christmas from the sparkle and excitement of the three day Yuletide tea and crafts display.

Proceeds from the annual celebration, sponsored by the Montalvo Service Group, fund concerts, plays and lectures help maintain the Villa and its grounds throughout the year.

A special feature of the festivities are enchanting exhibits designed and created by the Service Group in their workshops. The Mediterranean style edifice is also crammed with creations donated by area artists and craftsmen.

An elegant tea will be served continuously in the same dining room where President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Jack London were once honored guests.

Silver and crystal will gleam in rooms paneled with the golden Southern Gumwood and decorated in holiday red and green.

Garlands will festoon the hand-carved staircase, focal point of the Grand Entry Hall.

Junior members of the Montalvo Service Group, costumed as elves, pixies, sugarplums and nutcrackers will join the senior members in selling handmade candlesticks, baked goods, children's toys, clothing and boutique items.

Myriads of mirrors will reflect the articles displayed in the old-fashioned atmosphere of the Carriage House. While parents are mingling among the enticing gift items, their children will settle down cozily for a show of sheer holiday magic in the play "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

A shuttle bus service from the griffin-guarded gates and the various parking lots will be furnished.

Visions of Christmas splendor will dance firmly to reality across the marble and Gumwood expanse of the fabled Villa located in the tree-studded Saratoga foothills.

Villa Montalvo is about a half-mile east of the center of Saratoga off Los Gatos-Saratoga Rd. Tickets for the sparkling celebration are $2 adults and $.75 children.

A for your thoughts

by Edith Bonnet

The Irony of It All

I'm a stay-at-home wife by choice—because my children need me at home—not because I love housework. I loathe it, it's there and it gets done, after a fashion. One of the many tedious around-the-house jobs that annoys me is emptying icky, dirty, smelly ashtrays. Our guests don't dirty them—we do. We are, both, part of that stupid group of people who are hooked by those skinny little white sticks called cigarettes.

Yes, we smoke, and yet we don't want our children to—hypocritical? Definitely. Our children plead and lecture us on the hazards of this habit. They bombard us with propaganda on the danger to our health, and admonish us for adding to air pollution.

Complex problem....
Simple solution........
Quit smoking...........

Darn it, the answers in life are always so simple. Simple but not easy. Bad habits are so much easier to start than to stop. —Resolved—to avoid starting any more bad habits and work on this one.

Bright Rays

A group of Eastern College students needed a new auditorium on campus. They found college funds for the project impossible to obtain. So, along with local businessmen, and interested observers they raised funds, obtained materials (many donated) and built it themselves. Now that's what you call "higher education."

A Touch of the Light

From the latest PG&E bulletin comes this bit of humor quoted from Spotlight, "The Weather Bureau received the following postcard the other day: "I thought you'd be interested to know that I've just finished shoveling three feet of partly cloudy off my driveway."

High schoolers ask for cans

Campbell High School students will sponsor a recycling collection day on Saturday, December 4, when they are asking members of the community to collect and bring aluminum cans to the school.

The cans, preferably flattened, may be brought to the faculty parking lot between 10 a.m. and 12 noon where students will be on hand to accept them.

The school had a collection day for their own students last year and through the sale of the cans bought several items for the art department.

This year they hope to help purchase art and science equipment, and offer the money for use in mini-course activities.

They also hope to develop a "park" on the school grounds which the science club will use to raise fish and turtles.

ADELINES

An open house for women who would like to try the art of singing barbershop harmony is slated for Dec. 2 at 8 p.m., at the Church of the Valley, 400 N. Winchester Blvd. in Santa Clara.

The San Jose Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., one of the valley's most popular singing choruses, sponsors the evening.

THE WONDER OF CHRISTMAS--Lynn Martin, the four year old granddaughter of Mrs. E. Hap Martin waits patiently for Mrs. Ralph Rowen to fit her with a dress in the sewing workshop of the Montalvo Service Group. The bustle and hurry of the Montalvo Workshops rival the busy activity of Santa himself, as the women prepare for the 12th annual "Montalvo Yuletide" on the weekend of December 3, 4 and 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Children's clothing, baked goods and boutique items, and fairyland exhibits created by the Montalvo groups and other area artists will be featured at the popular three-day event, along with an elegant tea. Mrs. Allan Beattie and Mrs. E. Hap Martin are co-chairmen of the event.
